Banishing Bullying Project

The members of the Sisterhood's Banishing Bullying Behavior Project invite all Sisterhood and Congregational members to join them at one of their workshop sessions to learn what they can do as individuals to address the ever-growing bullying problem facing our society. Not a day passes when yet another tragic bullying story appears in the press, on TV and on the Internet.

To meet these needs, the BBB Project is expanding its program to serve as facilitators for support groups and discussion leaders for chavurot and book groups. Blanche Sosland was recently approached by an attorney whose client was looking for a support group for her teenage daughter who is a victim of bullying. Blanche discovered that there is a great need for such support groups and there are enough members of the BBB Project who are experienced counselors and psychologists to meet this need. There are a number of excellent informative books on the topic of bullying such as Whipping Boy and Bully for Book Groups to have meaningful discussions on this topic. BBB Project will be happy to serve as facilitators for such discussions. Please call or email Blanche Sosland at 913-488-1116 or blanche@sosland-photo.com for more information.

The Sun Doesn't Shine for Everyone During the Summer

For many of us, we are looking forward to the sun and relaxed atmosphere of summer. It is truly one of the most joyful times of the year. Swimming pools. Backyard barbecues. Royals games.

However, it is also important to realize that for many, summer is no more joyful than any other season. The Psalmists write: ivdu et HaShem b'simchah – “Worship God in joy.” On the High Holidays I have spoken about the importance of actively seeking out joy and happiness in our individual lives, and bringing joy to others.

It is important to recognize, though, that for some, it is simply not possible to experience the same type of joy. I want to encourage the congregation to join me in the Fathers Day 5k Run at Village Shalom – but for the quadriplegic congregant, that invitation will do little good.

Various seasons in Judaism are designed to heighten our sensitivities. When we leave the security of our home on Sukkot and intentionally dwell in a sukkah, we are reminded that a safe and secure home is not a given for many. On Passover, we begin by saying “Kol Dichfin” – “All who are hungry...” reminding us that not every table is filled with plenty, and there is even a custom of “ma'ot chitin” – “Giving money for wheat” before Passover, so that all can enjoy a Seder meal.

Similarly, I would suggest that summer be a time to take stock of the fact that not everyone can enjoy the sun in the same way. Depression and other mental illnesses are neither foreign to the Jewish community, nor to Jewish tradition. Rabbi Nachman of Bratslav suffered severe bouts of depression, and in the twenty-third psalm we read about walking “through the valley of the shadow of death.”

We are blessed in our community, to have the resources of Jewish Family Services and the Mental Health Coalition. Every week, they help so many of our community (and outside of our community) who struggle with mental illness. Also, the words of our prayer-book are not simply praises of God for the good in our lives. They are a tapestry of emotional expression. So, synagogue is also an appropriate place to bring your internal struggle. Finally, it is also perfectly legitimate to bring the names of loved ones who struggle with mental illness forward for our misheberach list. If you don't want to share the name of your loved one in synagogue, you can always contact the office and we will include their names on the list. Understanding that privacy is a key factor for all health issues – but especially for mental illness – we often use Hebrew names on the misheberach list which helps with anonymity.

My prayer is that we are all able to both feel, and be grateful for, whatever actual – or metaphorical – sunshine we get in the coming months.

5776 Yizkor Book

It is not too early to begin preparing for the High Holy Days by remembering our loved ones who have been called to their eternal rest. One way we can do this is by inscribing them in our CBS Yizkor-Remembrance Book.

This year's book will first become available at Yom Kippur, and subsequently, at each of the remaining three Yizkor services throughout the year. Kaddish, Yizkor and Yahrzeit sanctify the memories of our departed loved ones; these same memories are energized by our acts of tzedakah. Your generous contribution enables the success of religious, educational, cultural and social programs of Beth Shalom.

This year, we are offering five options for Yizkor Book entries. We ask that you choose one of the five options listed on the form and type your entry in the space provided. You may pay online by credit card, and the transaction and details will automatically be emailed to our office or by check if you are submitting a hand-written form.

If you have any questions, call 913-647-7281 to speak with Natasha Olinetchouk. The deadline for submitting a listing is July 8.

“The Jewish Journey of two brothers, Ben & Sol Goldberg”

In my April article I asked for submissions concerning “What is your Jewish Journey”. Arlene Shalinsky appeared in my office with the story of two brothers, Ben and Sol Goldberg, written by Esther Rodriguez. This story is abbreviated due to space requirements. I have the story in its entirety, so if you wish, I would be glad to give you a copy.

The year was 1923, the place was Argentine, Kansas City, Kansas when Ben Goldberg and his father, Samuel opened a clothing store called “The Peoples Store”. The area was bustling with activity; the Santa Fe Railroad Depot brought passengers to and from the area. Industry included the Railways Ice Company, K.C.

Steel, St. Clair Refinery, Pennsylvania Car Company and two banks plus Milgrams Grocery which sold the best cold cuts. The area boasted three restaurants: Dutch Radcloff’s (with a little gambling on the side), Loetel’s and Fredrick’s plus Rawlos Drugs, and four churches. The economy continued to rise until 1930 when it ground to a screeching halt; the stores and inhabitants of Argentine now just barely got by.

In 1940 Samuel Goldberg passed away, Ben was called to the service and Sol was recruited to run the store. When the war ended, Ben and Sol built a new store at 30th and Strong, which they called Gold’s. Again, disaster struck Argentine in 1951 when it rained for 40 days; the swollen river flooded and people in the flood area lost everything. Ben and Sol salvaged what they could and in 1952 moved their store to 23rd and Metropolitan. Their re-opening was a big occasion for the people. The Goldbergs gave back to the community with an open house complete with a square dance that lasted way into the night. For more than 57 years Ben and Sol gave back to the people of Argentine. They allowed people to buy clothes when they had no way of paying for them, and they created jobs to help those who needed work. Their kindness continued through their lifetime to CBS with gifts that have been more than generous.

Summertime Prayer

For so many of us, the month of June represents endless possibilities. For our children, every day may hold an exploration of the great outdoors, or of Netflix and the infinity of internet distractions. It is summer break and a time of preparation for camp for many of our students.

What do we do when everything around us seems to slow down? What is the mindful, Jewishly-engaged life choice in this moment? When the phones stop ringing and the calendar is freed-up, there is time to do what seems unattainable the rest of year – not just get organized for the fall, but crack open the books and study, prepare for the High Holy Days and the start of another school year.

Throughout the summer weeks, there will be opportunities to review and learn beloved Shabbat melodies at a Hazzan's tish, a table at Shabbat Kiddush where we will sing together; dates for tishs will follow in e-blasts.

Every morning before we begin to daven the early morning service, we pray the words Elohai neshama shenatata bi, tohorah hi. This soul which you have given to me is pure.

You created it, You formed it, You breathed it into me... Praised are You, God, who restores the soul to the lifeless. Summer is a gift – it is a time when the whole world seems to be breathing in dramatic colors, in sounds both calming and thrilling. It is a time when it is easy to pray, as we feel so much to be grateful for, and the opportunity for revival of the soul is ever-present. I hope you will join us for a Friday night or Shabbat morning service. Bring your best friend. Make a date of it. I can't wait to see you at shul.

Sponsor A Kiddush

A wonderful and significant way to commemorate a simchah, honor a friend or relative or memorialize a loved one is to sponsor a Kiddush Luncheon. Contact Martha Hoffman, 913-647-7283, or email mhoffman@bethshalomkc.org to sponsor a Kiddush.

Ingredients:

20 Ritz crackers
1 cup sugar
1 cup chopped pecans

3 egg whites
1 tsp. Vanilla

Directions:

Crumble the crackers so they are fine. Mix crackers and nuts and half of the sugar. Beat the egg whites stiff and add remaining sugar and vanilla. Add in the cracker mix. Pour into buttered 9 inch pan. Bake in a 350° oven for 20 to 25 minutes. Chill and top with whipped cream.
