Israel at 65 – How Significant is it?

This month, according to the secular calendar, the State of Israel is turning 65. Last month, we celebrated its birthday on the Jewish calendar. In a half generation, we will no longer have American Jews who recall a day without the existence of the State of Israel.

I have written and spoken about the importance of Israel precisely because its independence will soon disappear from first-hand memories. However, there are other reasons for Israel's importance.

In just 65 years, Israel now has approximately the same number of Jews as America. Once a fledgling nation, it is now the start-up nation leading the world in areas of high-tech and environmental research.

Neither the Jewish community in America nor Israel, are completely self-sufficient – we are more interdependent than ever. The Jewish population in the United States and the Jewish population in Israel are like two siblings who discover that they actually need each other more in adulthood than they did as adolescents.

Israel can teach us about independence, self-reliance, and about the creation of an authentic Jewish culture rooted in the West and the Jewish canon – while being created in Hebrew. We, however, have the opportunity to teach Israel about the beauty of religious pluralism and tolerance. Robert Putnam's book,

American Grace, describes an American tapestry of religion thriving in harmony. When Israelis spend summers in Jewish American summer camps through the Jewish agency, they have the opportunity to bring a taste of this back to their home towns.

In Israel's 66th year, I encourage all of us to both work toward creating a strong bond between our two communities, and not being afraid to both learn from, and teach our brothers and sisters who live in Medinat Yisrael – The State of Israel.

Celebrating Women in May

May is a beautiful month for celebrations. Many of you will celebrate graduations, and all of us will celebrate Mother's Day...contrary to some opinions, you do not have to be a mother or grandmother. You can honor a "special Aunt" or close family friend, but our commonality remains the same; we are all women.

A mother creates our sacred space as we grow by providing us with a home, which is our refuge from the outside world, and a place to be when life is not always cooperating with us the way we think it should. Home is where we learned, and grew; we found our own identity as our mothers introduced us to our religion, our holidays and our customs.

There is no one perfect way to be a good mother. Each situation is unique. Each mother faces different challenges, has different skills and abilities, and certainly children as diverse as a day is long. Most importantly a mother's love prevails over all else.

So let's remember to take the time or just make the time to honor those special women in our lives or take some time for recollections of those that no longer walk amongst us.

Happy, Happy Mother's Day to the ladies of CBS.

Polsky Religious School (PRS)

Patti Kroll, Coordinator of Education | pkroll@bethshalomkc.org

Tzedakah in Motion

Tzedakah is a holy obligation. It is the mitzvah of using your resources to help others. Each time our religious school is in session, our students bring nickels, dimes and quarters (sometimes dollars) for tzedakah. Over the course of a year, this adds up to over $600, and as part of the process, we put a lot of thought into how this money is distributed.

Our 8th grade religious school students are tasked with this responsibility each spring. They study texts on tzedakah, such as why we give tzedakah, how much is proper to give and who is obligated to give tzedakah.

Students then research one or more organizations and make a presentation to the other 8th grade students, including a recommendation of how much the organization should receive. It is up to the 8th grade students, as a “tzedakah board” to determine which organizations receive money and how much. We look for a balance in the process so that local and national agencies are considered.

Our intent is that through this process, these students will better understand the concept of tzedakah in their lives and will become the future generation of givers to both the synagogue and the community.

This year, the 8th grade students allocated tzedakah to the following organizations: World Wildlife Fund, National Council of Jewish Women, CHAI Lifeline, CHAI – Concern for Helping Animals in Israel, Project Ezra, Israel Guidedog Center for the Blind, Jewish Family Service and the Jewish Family Service Food Pantry.

Over the summer we encourage our families to continue to set aside tzedakah. A good time to do this is before lighting the candles on Shabbat. There is always a tzedakah box in the school office and we encourage our families to continue to make tzedakah donations over the summer or to bring their tzedakah money in at the start of the school year in September.

Mt. Carmel Commences Capital Campaign

The Cemetery committee has initiated a capital campaign designed to improve, enhance and preserve Mt. Carmel Cemetery and to increase the balance of the endowed fund by more than $500,000. Hopefully, the fund will reach $2,000,000 making the cemetery largely financially self sufficient. This is important since CBS has been absorbing the cemetery's budget shortfall. The lead gifts in this campaign have been made by Stan Bushman,

Sheryl Jordan has fun spreading the BBB message

Editorial Comments

On May 21 I will be installed as President of Sisterhood. Many very talented women, including my late sister, Bettye Rose Steinhaus, have preceded me in this position. I grew up in a home where volunteerism was very important. To those people who have called me "crazy for taking the Sisterhood Presidency along with my editorship of the Scroll, I am continuing the example set by my late parents, Rose and Jake Levine. I hope to proudly represent our fantastic Sisterhood within our community and Women's League for Conservative Judaism for the next two years. Join me by becoming involved in some part of our congregational community and reap the rewards of volunteerism.

The Sosland Family, The Ed and Beth Smith Fund and the Karbank Family.

The synagogue's Board of Directors approved the transfer of the formerly unrestricted Permanent Maintenance Fund to the Jewish Community Foundation (JCF) as a newly restricted fund. The revenue from this approximately $750,000 fund now will be used to benefit the cemetery. An unrestricted capital improvement fund was also created for addressing the immediate and long term needs of Mt. Carmel.

By changing the status of the fund, Beth Shalom has given donors the added confidence that the donations can only be used to benefit Mt. Carmel. Donors will also be able to give directly to the cemetery's capital improvement fund at the JCF.

Anyone interested in donating to this important capital campaign, please contact Kevin Taylor at the Jewish Community Foundation (913) 327- 8134 or Elaine Levine at Congregation Beth Shalom (913) 647-7293, elvine@bethshalomkc.org.
