The Online Jewish Learning Revolution: Part II. Deeper Learning through Classes

The Talmud aptly warns us: Do not say that I will study when I have time – for you may not have time. One reason the largest population that attends our adult learning programs in the Kansas City Jewish Community is retirees is simply the fact that this is the generation with available time. I can't tell you how many adult students I have met who have said that they had always wanted more serious studies but they never had time.

This need no longer be the case. In addition to the podcasts that I wrote about in January, there are a number of full-length courses available online in a wide range of Jewish topics. Many of these are free or low-cost, often taught by skilled and experienced teachers, with downloadable handouts. There is an explosion of ALL types of learning online – and Jewish learning has kept pace. I am going to highlight a few that I recommend – and recognize that these represent the tip of the iceberg.

The Jewish Theological Seminary. JTS, Hazzan Ben-Yehuda's and my alma mater, was the birthplace of Conservative Judaism and is still a center for unparalleled Jewish academic scholarship. They have many three-part, online courses that are taught by tenured JTS faculty for as little as $60 per three-session series. They range from history to Talmud to philosophy. These courses can be viewed on your computer either live (in which case you can interact with the class), or watch a recording.

Hadar Institute. I study in person at Hadar yearly. They focus on studying Talmud and other texts in partnership (hevruta). Though they have many learning opportunities online and in person, one of their best products is called Project Zug ("Zug" means "partner"). These courses can help you find a study partner and walk you through a series of challenging and inspiring Jewish texts.

General Universities. You would not believe how many great universities have online courses with their Jewish Studies faculty! Though often not live like the JTS course, these are opportunities to study the broadest range of academic courses. Institutions like Harvard, Northwestern University, University of Pennsylvania, and Tel Aviv University are just a few that offer such classes.

Web Yeshiva. An orthodox institution, WebYeshiva.org, has many courses that you would find in a traditional yeshiva. Like some of the other courses listed here, the classes can be watched live or recorded. This was founded by Rabbi Chaim Bravender. Rabbi Bravender's biography states: "He was the founding Rosh Yeshiva of Yeshivat Hamivtar and Mischelet Bruria (today, Midreshet Lindenbaum) where he pioneered the teaching of Gemara to students for whom the Talmud had been a closed book."

I am glad to step into the Interim Executive Director position, while the Congregation looks for a new Executive Director. The Congregation has appointed an Executive Director Search Committee led by Louis Cohn and Heather Schlozman. While that search is taking place, I will be holding down the Executive Director position.

Since I am not yet fully retired, I am only able to perform these duties on a part-time basis. For those of you who do not know me, I am a life-long member of Beth Shalom and have been involved in some aspect of Synagogue life for more than thirty years.

During those years I have served as either a member or chairman of the Budget Committee, the Administrative Committee, the Scholarship Committee, the School Committee and I currently serve as Secretary Treasurer of The Beth Shalom Foundation. While I am not familiar with every detail of synagogue life, I have enough knowledge that stepping into this position should allow me to continue serving our community without too much disruption. I am excited to take on this role.

For those of you that I have not met, next time you are in the building please come by and introduce yourself. I would be glad to meet you. My door is always open to answer any problems, questions or other issues you may encounter.

On Saturday, March 21st, we will be honoring a group of very dedicated and committed congregants serving as Kiddush Corps volunteers. The recent history of the Kiddush Corps dates to the 95th and Wornall campus, when synagogue staff would prepare Oneg Shabbat, consisting primarily of challah and wine.

In 2002, the practice of preparing and serving food resumed under the leadership of Gertie Epstein and Rhea Salasche. Over the last few years, while the number of family simcha services including Bar/Bat Mitzvahs has shifted, members of our congregation have continued the tradition to help prepare our meals, for approximately 35 Shabbatot annually.

Our current Kiddush Corps numbering 27 volunteers remain a wonderful and active group of volunteers. In addition to arriving at the synagogue about 8:30 am on Shabbat morning, current volunteers purchase all the foods for the Kiddush, prepare, tray, and display the foods, as well as cleaning up after each of us enjoys the meal and camaraderie following services.

Many thanks to those volunteer congregants that regularly help with this endeavor: Phyllis Abrams, Renana Abrams, Alan Edelman, Debbie Sosland-Edelman, Larry Fleider, Annie Glickman, Barbara Goldstein, Berenice Haberman, Hanan Hammer, Todd Hollander, Barry Kaseff, Barbara Katz, Mirra Klausner, Sylvie Radvinsky, Ernie Rosenthal, Susan Rosenthal, Donna Seymour, Nata Scharf, Joyce Shapiro, William Shapiro, Amy Schultz, Stewart Stein, Larry Silverman.

Coupled with these experienced congregants are our newest volunteers including Bill and Marge Schlosberg and Sara Federman-Allen, under the leadership of William Shapiro, who also serves as our buyer.

Contact any member of this team or Harold Kaseff at 816-591-2777 when you are ready to be enlisted with this tremendous group!

Summer Camp Experience

As we approach the summer of 2020, many children in our congregation are heading for a wonderful and truly eventful experience at a summer camp. Children attending summer camp experience opportunities ranging from enjoying the outdoors, exercise, memorable exchanges with peers, and, of course at camps such as Ramah, a unique and welcoming religious opportunity.

To ensure that Jewish summer camp opportunities are available for all children in our congregation regardless of expense, several families at Beth Shalom have come forward. Through their generous donations, it is possible for all children to truly enjoy the warmth and friendship of a summer camp.

Those families and funds include the following:

- Ada Hoffman Camp Ramah Scholarship Fund
- Harry and Anita Daniels Camp Ramah Scholarship Fund
- Merna and Sylvan Siegler Fund for Jewish Camping
- Morris and Rose Weinberg Endowment Fund for Camp Shabbat
- Shirley S. and Albert Goller Camp Ramah Scholarship

Families who want to see their child(ren) enjoy this invaluable experience, please contact Richard Simon, Committee Chair at 913-940-1911 or go to our website where an application for financial assistance is available. All children deserve this wonderful Jewish adventure.

by HAZZAN TAHL BEN-YEHUDA
hazzantby@bethshalomkc.org

Why do we send our children to school? In the United States of America, primary education is mandatory. Seen from the opposite angle, it is a right that every child has. There are standards of performance in English language arts and math competency; in most school districts, history/social sciences, science, arts and physical/health education also have benchmarks of achievement. In a few states, students must pass statewide exams proving basic literacy in the core subjects in order to graduate from high school. We send our kids to these schools because we must, and because our kids need this education in order to become contributing/earning members of American society.

Why do we send our children to Jewish school, be it day school or synagogue/religious school? Certainly not for the same reason. Why would we choose to either pay for an education that would otherwise be free (day school), or add to our children’s already-long day and week by schlepping them to religious school on Sunday mornings or after school on weekday(s)?

Jewish education is meant not simply to pass along generations of accumulated text, knowledge, stories and prayer literacy. It is not only to prepare our children for Bar and Bat Mitzvah or even for synagogue leadership. The Jewish education that you give (gave) to your children is the great inheritance willed from generation to generation.

This inheritance certainly includes much academic knowledge, but what makes it compelling is that in every “academic” lesson, there is at least one accompanying moral lesson – in every “simple story” or seemingly straight forward mitzvah, there is something to be learned about how to live a good life, a life of service, of kindness, of compassion, of consideration – a life of value. Certainly, these lessons can be taught in a secular environment, but when these lessons are taught in the context of our sacred texts, in the context of the stories of our ancestors, even in the folk stories of our illustrious storytellers, our children develop a deep connection to the moral behavior as well as the story. They also become integrated with the Jewish community, both locally and globally.

I hope that this spring, your children will come home regaling you with the story of Esther and Mordechai at Purim and singing the four questions at Pesach. I hope even more deeply that they connect with Esther’s bravery and Mordechai’s devotion to God, and that they understand that asking and struggling with questions is not only allowed but encouraged – because these and so many other moral lessons are at the root of what makes Jewish education so meaningful. And I hope they look forward to celebrating with family, both at home and at shul/school.

Youth & Family Programming

"Three kids in 3½ years."

"You did what?"

"Yup. Three kids in 3½ years."

"Um. You know what causes that, right?"

"Yes, I think I know..."

Much of my professional career, that's been a common introduction. When I graduated medical school, I married the next day, had a baby during residency training and two more babies during my first private practice. I worked full time, was on staff at two hospitals, drove to the hospital for every admission daytime or in the middle of the night, and covered shifts during nights and weekends for several urgent care centers. Yes, those years are a bit of a blur.

But, shortly after that time, I was also lucky enough to visit Israel for the first time as part of a leadership training program. Thank you to Hadassah for giving me that gift. Even as I was finishing the ten-day trip, I was already planning our first family trip to Israel. My husband, children, and I joined Beth Shalom's synagogue trip to Israel in 2007, spending January 1, 2008 on a kibbutz, in the desert, just outside of Eilat. Since then, I planned medical conferences in Israel and have visited three more times.

So, what else does having three kids in 3½ years translate to? Three children in religious school/Hebrew school at the same time, three bar/bat mitzvahs in a row, three confirmation trips batched together, three high school graduations, and three kids in college at the same time.

AND, three Birthright trips to Israel in just over three years (+ one extra "bonus" trip to Israel during high school for one kiddo).

Each of my children returned with renewed zest to support the Jewish community, grow in their own practice of Judaism, and a desire to return to Israel again, soon. Special thank you to Rabbi Neal Schuster and Zohar Flacks for being instrumental with these trips and for working to provide ongoing opportunities for our local youth.

Make visiting Israel a priority. Go with your family, your community, your college friends. Invite others to go with you. Meet new people. Make new friends. The time is now.

Rose Family Early Childhood Education Center

New Year, New Beginnings

by JUDY JACKS BERMAN | DIRECTOR

jjb@bethshalomkc.org | 913-647-7287

Beth Shalom Rose Family ECEC was named after Ruthie Rose through the generosity of the Rose Family! Eddie Rose loved the preschool (and still does) since his grandchildren attended Beth Shalom's Preschool. He saw their happiness and comfort in the synagogue and religious school because of their preschool experiences. He loved coming to grandparent special person day and Shabbat singing.

When this building was being built, Eddie felt a great way to honor his wife's memory would be to name the preschool The Rose Family Early Childhood Education Center. Over the years, Eddie has generously helped the preschool from security updates to new equipment.

Pictured above is our new amazing climbing structure that was custom built by Rainbow of the Heartland Play Systems. It is designed to challenge our Pre-K kids yet be safe and fun for our smallest kids. There are 2 slides, 4 different climbing walls, a ramp and telescope. It has a tire swing as well as a hammock swing and a tent swing in a different area.

Our children love their new indoor playground especially on snowy cold days or days we cannot get outside! We cannot thank Eddie Rose and the Rose Family Foundation enough for this fabulous climbing structure! This gift will keep young children challenged and growing for many years to come!

Parashat HaShavua is an ongoing, monthly program taking place every third Shabbat of the month at 9:00 am in the conference room. The goal of this program is to engage its participants in a stimulating discussion of the weekly Torah portion in a friendly atmosphere, where the difference of opinions is respected and questions are encouraged.

The next session will take place on March 21 when the PARASHAH OF THE WEEK: VA-YAK-HEL' - P'KUDEI will be discussed. An informal atmosphere and deep level of discussion are the trademarks of this gathering. No prior experience is required, and everybody is welcome to join.
